Selection Process and Funding

Netherlands
Fellowship Programme (NFP)

The ANLP
has been included in the 2012 – 2013 NFP list for short courses, this means that fellowship are available from the Netherlands government for this course.

Since 2010
the executing agency (NUFFIC) has introduced a fully on-line system for application and reviewing of fellowship applications. So you as a candidate submit your application via this system (SOL) and the course organisers, the Netherlands Embassies and NUFFIC use this system to evaluate your application. You can access the SOL-system via www.nuffic.nl/nfp, please check this timely (and create your account) and start collecting the necessary documents as soon as possible so that your application can be submitted in time.

The list with NFP-courses can be found in the NFP-course list. We have made an extract of the relevant pages of the NFP course list document. Please read carefully the instructions on pages 50 and 51. The announcement of ANLP (page 82) does not have the correct dates.

Note that your application should be received by the organisers at 23 September 2012 and that your application via SOL should be completed before 2 October 2012. We realise that these dates are slightly different from the dates used by ANLP.

For queries about NFP and/or the SOL you can contact Dr. Fre Pepping at Wageningen University in The Netherlands (fre.pepping@wur.nl) but note that asking questions on the very last days of September or the first day of October will most likely not result in an eligible application.

Potchefstroom/Wageningen, August 2012

ANLP Fellowship Applications to be opened on 15 January 2013